

Abstract of the Disclosure

The invention provides racking systems and related methods. The systems and methods provide a rack that has a generally horizontal base, a generally vertical central wall, one or more separating tiers, and one or more supporting tiers. The rack can be configured (e.g., assembled and/or adjusted) and used to accommodate panels of different sizes.

#2833779\4